THE COLLEGE:

Shri. Dadapatil Rajale Shikshan Sanstha's Dadapatil Rajale Arts and Science College was founded in 1991 by Hon. Late Dadapatil Rajale who was also the founder of Vriddheshwar Sugar Factory which is situated at Adinathnagar. He had given valuable contribution in the field of education and co-operative sector. He was involved in social and educational activities since 1942. He participated actively in 'Quit India Movement' in 1942. He attended "First Flag – hoisting Ceremony". He started Karyakari Seva Sahakari Society & Post Office at Kasar-Pimpalgaon. He worked as the Sarpanch (Frist person of Kasar-Pimpalgaon Village) & Member of Panchayat Samiti Pathardi. During his tenure, he undertook various activities for the welfare of society such as construction of ponds, roads, temple & gave motivations to farmers for using Hybrid seeds for getting more yield. He was the member of District Local Board during 1955-1960. He founded the college with the grand purpose of parting education to the children of poor and needy families of the region. The college is situated at Adinathnagar, a small village in the Tehsil of Pathardi. The whole Pathardi region is continuously under the shadow of famine. There is scarcity of rain, which has added to the woes of the people of the region. Majority of the people of this region live below poverty line. Many of them are sugarcane cutters and poor peasants who remain outside the region to earn livelihood. There was no source of higher education in the nearby area for the children of such people. These people couldn't afford to send their children outside the region for seeking higher education; especially the girls were deprived of higher education. Considering their need, Honorable Late Dadapatil Rajale decided to found the college in this region. His herculean effort was supported by a group of dedicated people who gave their valuable contribution in the establishment of this college.
