13. Kanban Method for IQAC

Prof. Raju Gholap

Coordinator, IQAC, Dadapatil Rajale Arts & Science College, Adinathnagar, Tal. Pathardi, Dist. Ahmednagar.

The higher education institutions going for NAAC accreditation/reaccreditation have to gather information or maintain records for the last five to six years. It has to record all the data year-wise and send it to the NAAC in the format of Annual Quality Assurance Report (AQAR). Collecting the data or the documentation of all the activities in the institute is the responsibility of the IQAC. To document all the activities is a huge task and it takes tremendous efforts to do this. With the use of ICT we can convert the data in digital format but to maintain such a huge amount of information is also an unmanageable task before the IQAC, in particular the coordinator of the IQAC. And on the other hand according to the guidelines of the NAAC, IQAC 'will not be yet another hierarchical structure or a record-keeping exercise in the institution'.<sup>1</sup> According to the same guidelines, It has the potential to become a vehicle for ushering in quality enhancement by working out planned interventionist strategies by IQAC to remove deficiencies and enhance quality like the "Quality Circles" in industries.<sup>2</sup> The same document says that, 'IQAC will facilitate/contribute....to Build an organized methodology of documentation and internal communication.'<sup>3</sup> The essence of the above guidelines is we have to think on a proper methodology for the sake of quality in our institute with the institutionalization of IQAC itself. We have to think over some methods which are used by the industrial/corporate sector for quality enhancement and sustenance. Present paper deals with such method called KANBAN"

KANBAN is a Japanese term; it literally means "Signboard" or "visual signal". If you work in services or technology your work is often times invisible and intangible. KANBAN board helps make your work visible so you can show it to others and keep everyone on the same page.<sup>4</sup> Work items are represented visually on a KANBAN board, allowing team members to see the state of every piece of work at any time. KANBAN method or KANBAN Board has based on three basic principles:

Visualize your work

1. Limit your Work In Progress (WIP)

2. Maintain flow

IQAC has to use different tools to keep records and track of everything. In traditional method higher education institutions uses a paper planner i.e. academic calendar as a tool for road-mapping (future plans) and issues notices every now and then to inform the staff members about all the activities. Moreover, the IQAC of the institutes has to conduct several meetings of the stakeholders to prepare institutional future plans and documentary evidences to be furnished before the Peer Team during the process of accreditation/reaccreditation of the NAAC. Conducting meetings is a time-consuming activity and the staff members' feds up with the repetitive meetings as most of the time they are unfruitful. In addition, the academic and administrative work gets heavier because of the academic growth of the college. Therefore, it becomes more difficult for the IQAC to monitor, coordinate and circulate information to all the members of the staff. We can overcome all these difficulties with the use of KANBAN method. There are various apps for KANBAN in Web, Android, iOS, Windows and Mac platform. One of them is "Trello".

Trello is a visual-based project management tool that applies Japanese productivity methodology KANBAN. It is a way of organizing information and tasks. Whether you are at work, at home, or anywhere in between, all the stakeholders can collaborate and organize their tasks and activities. The IQAC of Dadapatil Rajale Arts and Science College has been using this web-based platform since the academic year 2015-16. Presently there are three major boards. The first one is i) Internal Quality Assurance System (hereafter IQAS) and the second is ii) College Committees 2017-18 and iii) College Committees 2018-19. The board "IQAS" has seven lists namely IQAC Discussion and Decision, Decision Implementation Plan I and Plan II, Information Board, AQAR, Research and Publication and Unaided Courses. Each list contains various cards with their owners, members, descriptions, checklists, due date and attachments etc. The board is purely dedicated to the data needed for third cycle of the NAAC. The second and third board entitled as College Committees 2017-18 and College Committees 2018-19 respectively consists of various academic committees divided into seven lists and grouped according to activities. These committees are constituted to organize academic, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities during the Academic Year 2017-2018 and 2018-19. The IQAC administers the day to day functioning of these committees through the board. The IQAC coordinator overviews the Trello Boards from time to time and updates the individual cards with a status report in the comments or description sections. He gives a timeline to the card owner for updating the progress of the initiative. The IQAC assigns responsibility to a particular person. Thus, the IQAC monitors proper implementation of the institutional plans and analyzes overall academic and administrative performances of various academic committees of the college.

In addition, stakeholders have been invited through emails to join these boards. Stakeholders can work on these boards through log in either on their PCs, Laptops or simply installing android app on their smart phone. Every action on board is intimated to board members by phone message alerts and email. Comments can be addressed to particular board member beginning with @ character, filters to card on some queries possible. Overdue activities automatically red marked. Unattended cards get dimmer.

This is how with the help of KANBAN in particular Trello board IQAC can manage a huge task of documentation, monitoring, collaboration and enhancement of quality in the higher education institution.
